

Such Ahs!—And Ohs! of Approval NEW DRESSES

Arrived This Morning

When we unpacked them of course all the girls were on tip toe with expectancy. Such expressions as "Isn't that cute," "My, what a pretty dress," etc., left no room for doubt regarding the popularity of the styles.

One of the girls asked, "How much is that?" when a stylish combination dress of navy serge, made on princess lines, with sleeves of black satin and trimmed with bone buttons was unpacked. "Why, only $19.75. Well, that is mighty cheap for that dress." And that was the unanimous opinion of all regarding every dress received.

The prices range from $9.75 to $45.00.

The showing is complete, all the way from a neat plain street dress of French serge to the afternoon gown of crepe meteor. Come and see them. It is a pleasure to us to show you.

Blast Kills Convict.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 30.—George Ewing, 48, convict at Folsom prison, died from injuries received while he was working in the prison stone yard. He is the fifth man to meet death this year while working at Folsom prison.
